SET COURSE FOR LA ROCHELLE

On the edge of the Atlantic Ocean, facing the Iles de Ré, Aix and Oléron, La Rochelle welcomes you to the department of Charente-Maritime. Culture and heritage, sea and nature, sports and leisure, art of living and gastronomy...
La Rochelle can be discovered in all seasons at any pace.

CULTURE & HERITAGE

A fishing village founded in the 10th century, La Rochelle cultivates difference. It elected its 1st mayor in 1199; it was protestant when the whole of France was catholic, it was protected from the kings when the country was bent under the weight of taxes ... From the Middle Ages to the Renaissance, from the 17th century to today, we can discover the entire history of the city by walking along the quays of the Old Port and the streets of the historic centre: arcaded streets, half-timbered houses with slates, façades made of carved stone, large ship-owners' mansions from the 18th century... La Rochelle enjoys a remarkable heritage. In the heart of the Old Town, under the 19th-century covered market is where lovers of local flavours and products tend to go. Here you can discover Charentais melon, grattons (pork scratchings) and "farci charentais", choose a Cognac, a white or red Pineau... From the gourmet flavours of the market to the grand tables of its restaurants, local produce can be enjoyed in bistros, oyster bars, classic or gastro venues! La Rochelle is a real playground for lovers of fine food.

NATURE & THE COAST

By bike or on foot, the city can also be experienced through its many paths along the coast and in the parks and gardens spread over nearly 350 hectares. People come here to relax and enjoy the invigorating ocean air while enjoying unobstructed views to the horizon.

Starting from La Rochelle, a vast region with a unique natural heritage is yours to enjoy: from Charron to the Marais d'Yves Nature Reserve via the authentic ports of Loiron in Angoulins or Le Plomb in Houmeau, the paths laid out along the coast often lead the curious walker to lands where the villages hold wonderful treasures to be discovered! It's true that the La Rochelle region is full of unsuspected and singularly astonishing gems: "carrelets", those small fishing huts on stilts overlooking the ocean, so typical of the Charente region, white cliffs, canals, marshes and parks with breathtaking views of the ports and islands.
